

Alimak wins order from Lendlease

Alimak Group (Alimak), the vertical access solution company, has received an order from Lendlease in Australia for a total of four construction elevators to be delivered during the fourth quarter of 2015.

The order from Lendlease includes four mid- and high-speed twin elevators serving 90-140 meters of vertical access. The solution delivered will be specialised to meet customer requirements to facilitate transportation of larger construction materials. The new hoists will be used in the Darling Square development in Sydney Australia.

"The new order from Lendlease confirms our strong relationship with this international property and infrastructure group. We are committed to developing, delivering and servicing safe, reliable and efficient vertical access solutions tailored to our customers' needs and requirements", says Keith Carroll, Managing Director Alimak Hek Australia.

All of Alimak's construction hoists are based on modular designs, which provide them with flexibility in size and capacity for use in a variety of applications, including construction and refurbishment of high-rise buildings, bridges, chimneys and façades. The modular design decreases assembly time and maintenance costs.
